

Yesterday's TOMORROW

“IN A COUNTRY TORN BY WAR, THE
REAL BATTLE IS FOUGHT WITHIN THEIR HEARTS.”

Career driven journalist Kristin Taylor travels to Vietnam. There's a war going on, and she wants to cover it. Hitching rides on helicopters and accompanying platoons into the field, Kristin finds it impossible to report the reality of war without being affected by it.

Photographer Luke Maddox is running from his past. Although he clearly wants nothing to do with her, Kristin knows there's a story behind those dark brooding eyes, and she's determined to discover it. Falling in love with him was not part of the plan.

A night of death and desperation bring Luke and Kristin together in a way neither of them intended. They plan to wait out the war a few more months and then fly home together. But Luke disappears and Kristin is forced to return home alone.

Reunited years later, Kristin and Luke struggle to overcome nightmares of the past. Even their renewed faith in God doesn't seem strong enough to battle the emotions waging war on their souls. Together, they must find forgiveness and healing, and a way to move beyond the shadows of yesterday into the promise of tomorrow.

Catherine West

“Stories that stir the soul and soothe the Spirit.”

Educated in Bermuda, England and Canada, Catherine and her family live on the beautiful island of Bermuda. Catherine is happily married and enjoys an active life in the community, as well as her church, where she is presently involved in Women's Ministry.

As a writer of Christian romance, she hopes not only to entertain her readers, but also to share the good news of the gospel of Jesus Christ through her books.

Yesterday's Tomorrow

Women's Fiction

Complete: 100,000 words

CONTACT INFORMATION:

Catherine West, P.O.Box WK 453, Warwick, WKBX, Bermuda
Tel:441-238-4268 Email: cathwest@logic.bm